BAC bill passes; goes to governor

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Overwhelming House support sent the BAC bill to Gov. James Thompson on Monday, leaving proponents hoping he will sign it in time to put the election issue on the November ballot.

"The people in our area should contact him and ask that he sign it," Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, said from the House floor shortly after the bill won approval, 105-3. The legislation should reach Thompson in August. He has until November to act on it.

The timing concerns Avery Schermer of Granite City, the last elected member of the BAC Board to come from Madison County. He said he wants the bill signed soon so it can be placed on the November ballot, giving voters the quickest chance to elect representatives from outside St. Clair County. If not signed early enough, Madison County will continue to have non-elected representation.

"It could be four more years before we get an elected representative out of Madison County," he said Monday. Schermer lost a re-election bid in 1985.

Positions urging the governor to sign the bill are being considered by Schermer. Also advocating quick approval by the governor is Leo Konzen of Granite City, who was appointed to the BAC Board in 1986.

"It will take prompt attention from the governor," Konzen said. "It's a great thing for our area and hopefully the governor will give us that chance to get it on the ballot in November."

Tom Holloway, president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber would like Thompson to sign the measure at Granite City Campus of BAC.

"With (chamber) board approval, we will be sending a letter of invitation to the governor," Holloway said.

Prior to the House vote Monday, Wolf, the BAC bill's author and sponsor, was concerned because the Senate had amended the bill to make it apply only to Belleville Area College rather than to all community college districts in the state. Wolf thought some representatives who favored the bill would withdraw support because it no longer applies to their districts, but the bill received little opposition.

"It was very warmly received," Wolf said.

Opposition was raised in the Senate by the Illinois Community College Trustees Association. The bill would have allowed voters throughout the state to continue electing community college boards of trustees at-large, or to elect them from subdistricts resembling city wards.

Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, ended opposition and won Senate approval for the bill when he amended it to make it apply only to BAC.

Though opposed earlier to the BAC bill, due to Vadalabene's amendment, the ICCTA may now ask the governor to sign the bill, said Gary Davis, ICCTA executive director, Springfield. Davis said Monday that ICCTA members will be polled to determine what to suggest to Thompson.

A spokeswoman in the governor's office said Monday that he has not reviewed the bill, but is interested in public comment on it. The governor can be reached by letter at 207 State House, Springfield, Ill., 62706.

Granite City pollution still highest

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has again ranked Granite City as the city in the state most polluted by airborne dirt particles. The report, yet to be published, is based on 1986 statistics. The high pollution levels include emissions near Granite City Steel's basic oxygen furnace adjacent to 20th Street. The city is also in violation of the state's limit on airborne heavy metals.

Police union rejects chief's test proposal

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The police union turned down a suggested drug-testing policy Monday.

The union voted against the measure, presented by Police Chief Bill Harris, which sought voluntary drug tests of police officers, said 4th Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak.

Perjak said she discussed a voluntary testing measure with officers recently and had hoped the union would adopt testing.

"I'm really disappointed. I think it would have gone (passed) presented in a different way. There are enough of them down there that would have done it voluntarily," Perjak said.

Perjak has said previously that she was concerned about allegations that some officers are using illegal drugs. She has called on Harris to test officers who have allegedly used illegal drugs.

Harris told the Press-Record on Friday that he was formulating a drug-testing policy, but Perjak said the union itself brought the issue of voluntary testing to its members.

Bi-State bus cutoff threatened

By Cathy Kmoch
Staff writer

Bi-State Development Agency Board Chairman C. Wayne Spann has suggested the agency consider stopping bus service in Illinois if contracts with the two transit districts there are not settled by the end of August.

"I think we need to take serious action if we don't have contracts," Spann said last week. "I think we have (to be prepared) to stop service. We have to have a contract to give service."

Bus service contracts between Bi-State and the Illinois transit districts expired June 30. No new contract has been agreed upon to date.

The board voted June 26 to extend the one-year agreements until Aug. 31 and continue discussions.

But Spann said that, after that, the board should consider stopping service. "We can't continue serving them without an agreement," he said. "It's their problem."

But William Haine, chairman of the Madison County Transit District, said a cutoff of service would threaten tax dollars the agency receives from Illinois and the federal government.

"If Spann does that, then state subsidies will be cut off," he said. Haine called the suggestion irresponsible.

"What he's saying is the bus riders will be held hostage," Haine said. "We're not going to be muscled into a (one-sided) agreement by anyone."

Contracts had to be extended last year also, because the agency and the districts could not agree on several points in the contracts, Spann said.

The agency has reached substantial agreement with the St. Clair County district, but "major substantive differences" still must be resolved with Madison County, said Bi-State Executive Director R. Raleigh D'Adamo.

"They want to place controls on us that are not on the order of day-to-day activities," D'Adamo said. Suggested spending limits on various projects "just go beyond reasonable bounds," he said, adding, "They are smacking with political overtones."

Specifically, D'Adamo said Madison County is asking Bi-State to put a monetary cap on payments for services even though the district is billed for actual costs.

Madison County refuses to pay any costs necessary to bring Bi-State into compliance with federal requirements for service to the handicapped, or preliminary costs connected with the light rail project, D'Adamo said.

According to a county district briefing paper, district officials said the district will not provide any funds for capital expenditures.

Jerry Kane, general manager of the Madison County district, said St. Clair County's proposed contract is similar to Madison County's. He said the proposal would assure the districts pay their "fair share" for service and not pay for Missouri services.

"I don't see that service will be cut off," he said. "Discussions will continue and an agreement will be reached," he said, adding that negotiations have gone smoothly with no indication of stalling.

Spann said Bi-State has been "kind of kicked around here."

"We require people who do business with us to be reasonable," he said. "I don't think we ought to consent to being whipped and talked about in ways we don't think are fair."

(The Madison County district's proposals are "fair and reasonable," Haine said. "We spend a lot of time here trying to improve service. It's not like we're just knocking around here putting criticisms in the paper.")

For example, he said, light rail would operate in a Missouri corridor and the district does not think the system will be successful. "It doesn't justify its cost; we're scared to death of it," Haine said.

D'Adamo said that, last year, a lot of hostility to Bi-State existed, but the agency has "delivered" on many of the requests.

"The service is doggone near superb," he said. Bi-State was "stunned" by the new contract proposals, he said.

D'Adamo said indications at monthly joint meetings were that the Illinois districts were pleased with the current contracts and that only fine-tuning this year would be necessary.

But Haine said Bi-State wants a "blank check" to provide service.

"We've worked very hard with Bi-State management and I know it's a problem dealing with us," he said. "But we don't consider ourselves a conduit through which Bi-State gets tax dollars."

Board members said they would be willing to meet with county and district officials to discuss the contracts and any services and agency problems before Aug. 31.

A monthly joint meeting was scheduled for today (July 1) and contracts were expected to be discussed, Kane said.

Budget cut by $350,000, put on display

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — A leaner, but still deficit, budget proposed for fiscal 1988 was approved Thursday by Belleville Area College trustees.

The revised budget, totaling $16,337,454, will be on public display for the next 30 days, said BAC Chancellor Bruce Wissore.

A public hearing on the budget will be held at 5 p.m. July 30 at the Belleville campus, Trustee Leo Konzen of Granite City said Friday. Trustees will then act on the budget following the hearing.

Earlier this month, trustees requested that $350,000 be removed from the proposed budget of $16,687,454.

Items that were cut, Wissore said, were:

- $80,000 for three open faculty positions
- $45,000 for three new staff positions
- $30,000 for a drug counseling program

• $95,000 from a contingency fund for contract negotiations.

"It's a start," Konzen said.

Though the cuts were made, Wissore said there's still about $1 million more in expenditures than in revenue, projected at $15,327,500.

Q: Do you think the captain of the Stark, fired on in the Persian Gulf, should be courtmartialled?

Mrs. Harold Krohne Sr.

"I had two brothers in the Second World War in the Navy and I have a grandson in the Navy now, and if the captain of the ship was negligent and wasn't doing his job properly, then I feel he should be courtmartialled."

—Granite City

Bill Messenger

"Yes, he should be courtmartialled. It was a case of gross negligence resulting in the loss, unnecessarily, of many lives."

—Granite City

Carla Smith

"I don't think so. I realize the captain of the ship is responsible for all those under his command, but it seems to me the key mistakes were made by others on the Stark."

James Dederer named 'pharmacist of year' by PADA Foundation

James Dederer, of Granite City, has been named 1987 Pharmacist of the Year by the Pharmacists Against Drug Abuse (PADA) Foundation.

The award, established in 1985, was planned to publicly recognize the accomplishments of pharmacists who have become involved in drug abuse education efforts.

IPHA joined with the Metro-East Pharmacists Association (MEPA) in nominating Dederer for the award. The nomination was accompanied by many letters of support from scouting organizations, school districts, teachers, students and others who have benefited from his efforts in the area of drug abuse education.

The award consists of a $7,500 scholarship grant to be awarded to the pharmacy school designated by the award recipient and a $2,500 honorarium to the pharmacist.

An award presentation is being scheduled in Washington, D.C., for July or August, at which time Mrs. Nancy Reagan will present a plaque to the honoree.

State group to meet in county

The Illinois State Society of Sons of the American Revolution will hold its summer Board of Managers meeting July 11 at the Edwardsville Days Inn, according to Russell D. Page, president of the state society.

The General George Rogers Clark chapter of Madison County will host the meeting and John A. Kesler, chapter president, will welcome the group.

Two principal items to be acted on are the approval of a charter for the Shadrach Bond Chapter of the ILSAR in Bond County and presentation of the Martha Washington award to Mrs. Karen Bauer of Greenville. G. Mark Shaw of Greenville is the organizing president of the chapter. The award is being presented to Mrs. Bauer because of her aid in organizing the chapter.

10 have unclaimed assets in state

State Rep. Sam W. Wolf, D-Granite City, is trying to locate constituents who may have funds which they have forgotten.

He is working with the Illinois Department of Financial Institutions in a cooperative effort to find owners of unclaimed assets. Ten Quad City Area residents have at least $100 of assets waiting to be claimed," Wolf said.

"These unclaimed assets generally consist of checking or savings accounts, dividends, unclaimed payroll checks and safe deposit box contents, although they could consist of nearly any unclaimed financial asset," he said.

"After assets have been abandoned or inactive for seven years, the holder of that property must attempt to locate the owner. If the effort fails, the assets are turned over to the state. The state then holds the assets indefinitely until they are claimed by the owner or heirs of the estate."

To date, Illinois has reunited owners with over $12 million.

"We are attempting to rejoin the owner with his or her lost assets before the state takes custody," Wolf said.

"If you are on the following list, write to the Department of Financial Institutions, 421 E. Capitol, Room 205, Springfield, Ill. 62706. Include your name, address and county of residence and they will put you in touch with the holder of your property who will then provide you with specific information about the amount and type of assets being held."

Area residents on the list are: John D. Arnette, 3520 Johnson Road, P.O. Box 2044 Madison Ave.; Louis or Mary Foster, Rural Route 2; Norma Hoppe, 2287 Edwardsville Road; Charles A. Meyer, 2708 Harvey Place; Wayne or Letha Pitchford, 2116 Delmar Ave.; Pearl Pryor, 2350 Waterman Ave.; Charles G. Sowell, 2708 Iowa St.; Thelma Sliver, 2218 19th St.; and the W.H. Company, 2418 Iowa St.

Yellow light for garbage trucks bill sent to governor

SPRINGFIELD — Garbage trucks would get the green light to display flashing yellow lights as an added safety measure under a bill sent to Gov. James Thompson June 23.

The Senate unanimously approved the measure, partly in response to the death of David Jason Tuttle, 12, of Wood River, run over by a garbage truck in March.

The bill would permit but not require garbage haulers to mount the yellow oscillating lights on the top of the trucks. It would be an additional safety device, not permitted under present law.

A 1965 law required garbage trucks to have backup audible warning alarms starting Jan. 1 of this year. But the truck which backed over Tuttle was not equipped with an alarm.

Program planned on sign language

A program on sign language will be given by Jill Dvorchak at the Granite City Branch Library, 2020 rear Johnson Road, on Thursday, July 2, at 11 a.m.

She will show the audience movements for words and phrases in sign language and how to present a song in sign language.

Dvorchak has an SIUE degree in theater arts/communications, with an emphasis on deaf theater. She has worked as a sign interpreter for St. Louis Community College at Florissant Valley, Lewis and Clark Community College, and the University of Missouri at St. Louis. She has also signed for local theater productions and taught drama classes for Creative Express in Alton.

The 45-minute program is open to children 6 and older and to adults. It is sponsored by the Madison County Arts Council.

Vietnam war dead saluted

On June 25, Capt. Bobby L. Henry Sr., commander of Illinois State Police, accepted a commemorative plaque from the Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund Committee on behalf of the men and women of District 11. The plaque was presented in Oak Ridge, Cemetery, Springfield, in front of Lincoln's Tomb, near the future site of the Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

Troopers and civilian personnel of District 11 contributed over $400 to sponsor the name of Philip Ray Gaines, of East St. Louis, who was killed in Vietnam on May 28, 1967.

Gaines' name was drawn from a list of 218 servicemen who were killed in Vietnam and were from the Illinois District 11 counties of Madison, Bond, Monroe, Clinton and St. Clair.

The parents of Philip Gaines, Richard and Flora Gaines of East St. Louis, stood at Henry's side as he accepted the plaque. Also in attendance were State Sen. Kenneth Hall of East St. Louis as well as the following District 11 personnel: Capt. Larry Trent, Master Sergeant Terrence Zeisler, Paul Stokes and Wayne Watson, Sgt. David Lauer, Troopers Bob Strack, Nathan Sloan and Steve Junk, Custodian Jerry Hubbe and Truck Weight Inspector Harley Guley.

Henry said, "We are honored to remember men and women from Illinois who served their country with dignity and courage, especially those who made the ultimate sacrifice."

The Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial is being built in memory of the 2,828 soldiers who died, the 102 soldiers who still are listed as prisoners of war or missing in action and the 100,000 veterans who served in the Vietnam War.

DUIs

Nabbed on DUI warrant

Eddie Mitchell Peridore, 32, of 3801 Lake Drive, Lot 28, was arrested on a Madison County Sheriff's Department warrant for failure to appear on a driving while intoxicated charge. Taken into custody at 2 a.m. June 24 at 19th and Benton streets, he was transferred to Madison County authorities.

Booked on two charges

Gerald W. Padgett, 44, of 2437 Byron Ave., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving too fast for conditions June 20 after he allegedly was found asleep behind the wheel of his car with the motor running. The auto was straddling a railroad tie between the driveway and yard at 4110 Rode Ave. Bail was set at $302.

Madison DUI citation

Bryan Swalley, 42, of 9 Nightingale Court, was arrested at 1:27 a.m. June 26 at 10th Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, and given a citation. He was released on a notice to appear at a hearing Aug. 13.

County police

Truck trailers looted

Gene Hadley, of Whitt, Ill., and Juan Miller, of Hamilton, Ala., reported June 25 someone had taken equipment from their flat-bed trailers parked at 612 W. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell. Whitt said $650 in equipment, including two tarpaulins and four chains, was missing. Miller said about $570 in equipment was taken, including chains and binders.

Man allegedly points handgun at county officer

A 30-year-old man was charged with illegal possession of a firearm by a felon after he allegedly pointed a .25-caliber pistol at a Madison County officer on June 24.

Both Madison County and Granite City officers were involved in the arrest.

It is contended Stephen G. Presley, of 4010 Braden Ave., Nameoki Trailer Court Lot 20, was at the Braden address and pointing the pistol at Richard Muckensstrun, 5100 Sheila Drive, when officers arrived.

As Muckensstrun moved from the doorway of the mobile home, a deputy sheriff entered and allegedly saw Presley raise the pistol into an alley.

Granite City police

Thief takes motorcycle

Katherine June Adams, 29, of 2920 Victory Drive, said someone took a Yamaha 150 motorcycle from his driveway at 10:15 p.m. June 23. The motorcycle belonged to a nephew who is in the service.

2 arrested for fireworks

Katherine June Adams, 29, of 3204 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested for unlawful discharge of fireworks, and Tammie Lynn Ely, 27, of 2151 Orville Ave., was charged with unlawful possession of fireworks at 8 p.m. June 24 at 4109 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Adams was arrested after a patrolman alleged seeing a rocket fired. Ely allegedly was seated on a motorcycle that contained a bag with 882 pieces of fireworks. Cash bail for each was set at $52.

Man arrested for battery

Steven Denton Bernstein, 29, address unknown, was booked for battery at 11:05 a.m. June 24. He was arrested in the 2500 block of Madison Avenue after he allegedly forced Barbara Eubanks, of the 1100 block of S. Thomas Road, to ride along on his ice cream truck. He then stopped his truck on Madison Avenue and began striking her, it was contended.

Police catch youths on roof of YMCA building

After seeing four youths on the roof of the Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., about 8:40 p.m. June 19, police said the foursome tried to climb off the roof near Niedringhaus Methodist Church on Delmar Avenue, but saw the officers and ran over the "Y" rooftop toward Edison Avenue.

Two Madison youths, 17 and 14, climbed down a fire escape and were caught on the ground. The pair was allowed to leave, due to a misunderstanding.

Two officers went up the fire escape and found Paul Richard McNiff, 17, of 1726 Delmar Ave., and a 16-year-old Granite City youth sitting on the roof's lower section against a wall and out of sight.

Father's arrest follows son's arrest on warrant

Gregory R. Martin, 19, of 131 Troecker Lane, Mitchell, was arrested by a Madison County deputy sheriff on a Granite City warrant for failure to appear for a hearing on a battery allegation at 11 p.m. June 23 at Interstate 270 and Illinois 111.

At 11:55 p.m., his father, Gregory Martin, 44, also of 131 Troecker Lane, was arrested for disorderly conduct at the Granite City police station after he allegedly cursed, shouted and accused officers of harassing him and his son.

Poison ivy, oak, sumac can be painful plants

By Janet R. Burnett
Extension adviser

Summer campouts, nature walks and hiking expeditions can be a lot of fun. But those who are susceptible to poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac may walk away from the experience with some painful sores.

Not everyone who comes into contact with these plants will be affected by them. Only those who are allergic to them will develop the itching, water blisters and rash associated with the allergy.

You say you've never had problems with poison ivy, oak or sumac? Well, beware — you're not out of the woods yet.

People may gain or lose sensitivity to these plants over time, so past immunity is no guarantee that you will not develop an allergic reaction in the future.

What should you do if you do run across poison ivy, oak or sumac this summer? Stay away from it if possible. But surprisingly, direct contact with the poisonous plants isn't the only way people can be affected.

The contaminants may also be transmitted by infected persons or pets, or by clothing contaminated with plant sap.

Many times, individuals with poison ivy, oak or sumac will re-expose themselves by wearing contaminated clothing again without laundering or dry-cleaning.

This is mostly true of outerwear such as jackets, hats and gloves that don't normally need cleaning after each use.

When you wash clothing that has been contaminated with poison ivy, oak or sumac, be sure to wash it separately. If it goes into the washer with the rest of the family's laundry, it may contaminate the rest of the wash.

Pets are another possible carrier of poison ivy, oak or sumac. If pets are allowed to wander in wooded areas, their fur may carry the plant's sap for a long time. A soap-and-water bath is just about the only way to get the contaminants out of the pet's coat.

Garden tools, too, may spread poison oak, ivy or sumac. Again, a thorough scrubdown with soap and water is the only practical way to prevent recontamination.

Whatever you do, don't scratch the affected area, don't touch your eyes or mouth, and don't use the bathroom until you're sure you have all the sap washed off.

The symptoms of poison ivy, oak or sumac include itching, burning, and red "water blisters" — as well as headache and fever. These symptoms may appear only a few hours after exposure to the plants — or they may take up to seven days.

If you think you've been in contact with poison oak, ivy or sumac, it's important to wash yourself — and your clothing — right away. Plain old soap and water — and plenty of it — is your best bet for removing the sap from both skin and clothing. If you wait more than a few minutes to wash the sap from your skin, there's little you can do to prevent an allergic reaction.

After you've washed thoroughly, apply rubbing alcohol to the affected area. This may sting a little, but will neutralize any sap that may remain on your skin.

If a rash does develop, paint it with calamine lotion to relieve the itching. And if the rash is severe — or if it affects the mouth or other sensitive areas of the body — seek medical attention immediately.

Alert: Pottery for food storage should meet FDA standards

Though Americans today are generally exposed to less and less lead — a poison once common in paints, gasoline and some cans used for food — individuals are still occasionally hurt by lead exposure via the improper use of lead glazes by untrained makers of pottery or earthenware.

Glazes are used to seal pottery surfaces so they can be cleaned more easily and don't absorb moisture and bacteria. Lead has been a component of glazing material for such ceramic dishes, bowls and pitchers for centuries. Generally this is not a problem, but it can become one if the leaded glazes are not properly fired — they are not fired to high enough temperatures when they are manufactured. When this occurs, the lead can be dissolved by acid foods like orange juice, contaminate the food and be consumed.

Kris R. Kozielek Earns award

A 1987 high school graduate who will attend Southern Illinois University at Carbondale this fall has won a Presidential Scholar Award.

Kris R. Kozielek of 2546 Waterman Ave., Granite City, won the award, which goes to students who are in the top 2 percent of their high school class and who have an American College Test composite score that ranks them in the top 2 percent among their peers nationally.

Presidential scholarships cover full tuition for fall and spring semesters and include a $1,000 cash award which is renewable for the next three years if the student maintains a grade-point average of at least 3.5.

As sophomores, juniors and seniors, presidential scholars are eligible for student jobs that are related to their majors.

Student physicals due in Madison on opening school day

All prospective Madison School District kindergarten pupils, fifth graders and students new to the district must turn in a completed physical examination and updated immunization record the first day of school, Aug. 25.

Ninth grade students are to turn in completed physical examinations when they pick up their class schedules.

"If this obligation is not fulfilled, your child will be excluded from school," Daniel S. Kosiencki, superintendent, said. This policy is in compliance with state law, he added.

Mary Schmitt

First patient marks another first

Mary Schmitt, of Granite City, has already made history once at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, and now she's making it again, 74 years later.

Recognized as one of the first patients ever at SEMC, Schmitt, 82, recently became the first person to take advantage of the hospital's newest service, called "Respite Care."

Respite Care provides temporary care of dependent — but medically stable — persons in a home setting to give the family or care-giver short-term relief.

Schmitt spent a June weekend at SEMC while her sister and friend attended a nephew's wedding in New Orleans.

"It (the situation) was a touch and go thing," Sister Eugenia, an Ursuline nun, explained. "Eugenia is on leave so she can help take care of Mary, her older sister."

"Mary insisted we go to the wedding, but I wanted to be sure she was taken care of first. I wouldn't have gone if we hadn't found someone to care for her."

Respite Care proved to be the answer to her dilemma.

Nursing Service associates and other service departments at SEMC provide all the necessary care a person needs in the Respite Care unit.

All rooms are private and have provisions of bath, telephone and color TV. Each respite room on the 3-Doctors Nursing Unit has been redecorated in soft pastel colors.

"It's a great relief to find some place like St. Elizabeth's and know the Sisters are there and professional care is there. It really frees me of all anxieties," Sister Eugenia said. "The hospital has all the resources to take care of a person's needs. It's like a home away from home."

Schmitt has been to SEMC several times since a ruptured appendix originally brought her there in 1913.

"Everyone here is always good to me," she said.

Pinton graduates, ordained as pastor

The Rev. Lois D. Pinton received the master of divinity degree from Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, Mass., during graduation ceremonies May 18. It was the school's 178th commencement.

She serves as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Cambridge, Mass. A member of the American Baptist Churches, she was ordained June 14, 1987, at the Shiloh Baptist Church in West Medford, Mass.

Her mother, Ruby A. Streblor, and her stepfather, Theodore J. Streblor, live in Granite City.

Success 'A Matter of Time' for VP Fair-bound Blue Ridge

By Shee Kilne
Journal correspondent

To the four young men in the country music band Blue Ridge, including Craig Varble, 17, of Granite City, it's just a matter of time before success finds them.

That confidence is bred not by arrogance but by talent and a genuine love for music, said agent Jeanette Wernig, who is also the mother of guitarist and band leader Rich Wernig.

"Next to God and their families," music is the most important thing in their lives, she said.

"There's a high enthusiasm with all of us," said Jeanette Wernig, a St. Ann resident. "We just know it (success) is going to happen."

But for now band members

Varble, Rich Wernig, 20, of Hazelwood, Bill Highley, 21, of Dittmer, Mo., and Pat Hawkins, also 21, of Cattawissa, Mo., are enjoying playing local engagements.

A high point for the band will be their performance at the VP Fair from 9:30 to 3:35 p.m. July 3 at the Union Pacific Country Stage. The band played the fair last year, and members are excited about another VP appearance.

Fair-goers will hear a variety of songs from Blue Ridge, including some country, country rock, '50s rock 'n' roll and bluegrass. One of their favorites is the "Orange Blossom Special." Their two original songs, written by Highley, are "Back to Missouri," about a music man's homecoming, and "Can You Still Feel the Fire?" about lost love regained.

The band already has cut two albums in Nashville and played as guests of country music stars such as Randy Travis. They also have been the opening act for Moe Bandy, Bill Anderson, Helen Cornelius and the Kendalls. Their manager is St. Louis Dean Raymer who has booked stars such as Crystal Gayle, Ricky Skaggs and Charlie McClean.

The band's goal is nothing short of hitting top-10 on the country charts.

"That's our main goal, to land a record contract," Rich Wernig said.

And when they have arrived, Jeanette Wernig believes the young men will handle success well.

"They're all very, very level-headed," she said. "I think they'll be able to handle it when it comes. I don't think the Lord would have let us this far if he didn't mean for it to go all the way."

One of the band's trademarks is harmony, performed with precision, Jeanette Wernig said. And after hearing Blue Ridge, audiences are usually surprised how young the band members are. Their talent is not surprising to those who know them, though, Jeanette Wernig said. They all were hankering to play music before they were old enough to go to school, she said.

Rich Wernig plays lead guitar, bass and vocals; Varble on banjo, bass and vocals; Highley on rhythm guitar and lead vocals; and Hawkins on drums. The band has been together for more than two years.

Practicing and performing while holding down jobs and attending school is demanding but worth it, Rich Wernig said.

"We want to keep climbing as high as we can get," he said.

Shanghai Acrobats now at Six Flags

A show by the Shanghai Acrobats is more like a complete circus than an acrobatic display.

Sixteen members of the acrobatic troupe are now performing at Six Flags Over Mid-America through Aug. 30 in the Palace Music Hall.

Acrobats, aerialists and contortionists are joined by astonishing gymnastics, jugglers and trained animals, while one ring allows all attention to be focused on each act. In a recent performance in Shanghai, a young girl, followed by a spot light and two assistants laden with wine glasses, moved onto center stage.

Bending her head backward, she placed a wine glass on the bridge of her nose. She laid a glass tray over the glass, and on this she placed another wine glass, and then another tray and five glasses.

The creation continued to grow until catastrophe seemed inevitable. And when it had nearly doubled her height, to further demonstrate her masterful balance, the girl climbed a ladder held by her assistants while she held the amazing assemblage of glassware on her nose all the while.

A man and fox terrier came next. The dog promptly laid down at the man's feet in a remarkable attitude of death. The man prodded him. The dog didn't move. The man picked him up by the hind feet. The dog didn't move. Eventually the dog awakened and man and dog began a series of acrobatics.

VP vendors ready with wacky wares

By Deborah Reinhardt
Journal staff writer

You've seen them, you've bought them, you can't live without them — those wacky, tacky VP Fair souvenirs.

Favorites from forgotten fairs include beverage helmets, lighted wands, antenna headbands and foil wigs.

Jayne Hinds' job is to keep fair-goers supplied with souvenir opportunities. Hinds, chairman of non-food concessions, said 150 bazaar vendors will be at this year's fair. About 85 percent of these merchants are returning from previous fairs.

This year's coveted souvenir is — fanfare, please — the laser yo-yo.

"I predict laser yo-yos will be hot this year," Hinds said. The yo-yo lights up when in motion.

"I tried to make it the official VP Fair yo-yo but they didn't buy it," Hinds said.

Corona beer T-shirts also are expected to sell well. On the extravagant side, you can buy a solid gold finger ring to glue onto your pathetic pinky. The price is $200.

Be warned that the Chippendale men are returning to L.K. Sullivan Boulevard. The crowd of women hanging around the booth made walking difficult. The guys will be selling official Chippendale calendars at $5.95. If you can get close enough, you can have your picture taken free of charge with one of the gorgeous dancers. Explain that to your mother the next time she visits.

For about $4, you can stand next to a life-size cardboard likeness of Ronald Reagan or showbiz celebrities and have a photographer snap your picture. If you prefer to take your own pictures of the fair's activities — or take a photo of a goofball standing next to Reagan — there's a one-hour photo developing booth on the grounds.

If you want to be a hit in aerobics class, pick up a pair of rhinestone-studded tennis shoes.

Hinds starts planning the concessions in January. Vendors have to be lined up by the middle of May. Unlike food concessions, the VP Fair Foundation does not get a cut of profits. Vendors buy a booth for $500 which includes the proper license.

Hinds must be careful in choreographing this collection of keepsakes. "Fifty people want to sell T-shirts but I limit it to 10 or 12 booths," Hinds said. "I'm always looking for something different."

Souvenir vendors will be on L.K. Sullivan Boulevard and the top of Bi-State garage. Arts and crafts vendors also will be on the garage.

Oprah Winfrey and Natalie Cole among star cast coming to fair

By Harry Hamm
Journal correspondent

No matter how you measure it, the Fourth of July weekend in St. Louis is going to be an entertainment extravaganza.

In addition to this year's three-hour ABC television network special, hosted by Oprah Winfrey, the names lighting up the entertainment marquee of the VP Fair include Bob Hope, Natalie Cole, the 5th Dimension and Broadway's most popular female song-and-dance star, Bernadette Peters.

But blue-chip entertainers are nothing new to the fair. John Denver, Dionne Warwick, Roy Clark, Ben Vereen, Ray Charles, Elton John, the Beach Boys, Liza Minnelli and many others have helped pack them in at the fair, for good reason.

"We want the VP Fair to be second to none when it comes to presenting the biggest and best attractions the entertainment world has to offer," says Chuck Wallace, the fair's executive director. "After all, the fair has become this country's largest Fourth of July event. Therefore, it makes sense that we book the best."

The "best" also demand the biggest paydays for a one-night stand. The fair forks out anywhere from $10,000 to $25,000 to its stars. Liza Minnelli has been the most expensive performer in the history of the fair, commanding $125,000 in 1985. Dolly Parton appeared for a mere $75,000.

The parade of superstars at the VP Fair has left its collection of backstage stories. For instance, there was the time Elton John had to be dressed as a St. Louis policeman in order to spirit him onto the fairgrounds without being noticed. That successful sortie was arranged by

Col. Jim Hackett of the St. Louis Police Department. Then there was the night that Parton delayed her departure after her show so she could stand outside her trailer and watch the fireworks show.

"This is the best fireworks show in the world," Parton was heard to shout.

The size of the fair's audience is a factor that seems to boggle the mind of most performers. "People are always telling you that there's going to be a good crowd almost anywhere you go," Harry Belafonte said. "But I've performed all over the world and I have never seen or felt anything like this. It is almost impossible to describe the feeling it gives to a performer."

Helen Reddy echoed Belafonte's feelings. "I don't care how many shows you've done, in any part of the world," she said. "This place will humble (you). You've got to be at your best and on your toes. This audience is unbelievable. It's like singing for an entire city. I can't think of a better way to explain it."

Or, as Hope once put it: "This is one place where I don't try to count the house. If I did, I'd be here until George Burns turned 100."

The quest for notable talent at the fair is ongoing. Frank Sinatra, Paul Simon and Diana Ross are among the many names mentioned as possible future headliners at the fair. But no matter who fills the bill, come the Fourth of July you can meet them in St. Louis, you can meet them at the fair.

What kind of father lets his kid work for nickels & dimes?

A father who realizes that a newspaper carrier route can reward a youngster with much more than spending money.

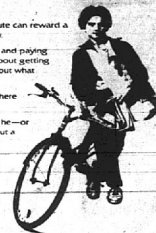

It can teach the sweet satisfaction of self-reliance and paying your own way. It can teach a lot about people, about getting along with fellow workers, about bosses, and about what you owe customers and what they owe you.

It can teach pride, responsibility and hanging in there doing what has to be done and doing it right.

If you'd like this for your youngster, suggest that he or she call our circulation department and ask about a newspaper route.

Oh, and about the money. In this job the nickels and dimes very quickly add up to real dollars.

Give in to chocolate urges with light-hearted desserts

Everyone loves dessert, chocolate ones particularly, but those calories mount quickly. What should be done when fresh fruit does not satisfy a craving for chocolate cake or mousse? Give in. But take a look at calorie-frimmed chocolate recipes.

These include low-fat ingredients, minimal amounts of sugar and fresh fruit garnishes instead of whipped cream. Light and airy, they are great for warm weather and festive enough for party occasions. Calorie counts are given to guide the most serious weight watchers.

Chocolate Marble Chiffon Cake is made with half the usual amount of sugar, less vegetable oil and fewer egg yolks than its traditional version. Still this chiffon cake remains rich and refreshing with a chocolatey swirl and fresh fruit garnish.

Serve wedges to weight-conscious friends as a finale to a luncheon or dinner.

Thank semisweet chocolate chips for Cold Choco-Lite Soufflé's delectable chocolate flavor. Calories are trimmed by using part-skim ricotta cheese instead of the egg yolks and whipping cream found in the classic version of this popular recipe. A fresh fruit garnish adds appeal but few calories.

Dieter's Delight Chocolate Mousse starts with only 89 calories per serving. Unsweetened cocoa provides concentrated chocolate flavor but minimal fat, requires no pre-melting like baking chocolate and blends readily with the other ingredients. This light-tasting, light-textured mousse can be served in fancy dessert dishes or frozen in pop molds for a hot-weather treat.

Chocolate marble chiffon cake

1 cup cocoa
1 cup very hot water
3 tbsp. plus 1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup oil
4 egg yolks
1 cup water
2 tsp. vanilla
8 egg whites
1/2 cup cream of tartar
Fresh fruit garnish

Remove top oven rack. Move batter to lowest position. In medium mixing bowl, combine cocoa and water. Stir in 3 tablespoons sugar until smooth. Set aside.

In second mixing bowl, combine flour, 1/2 cup sugar, baking powder and salt. Add in order: oil, egg yolks, water and vanilla. Beat with spoon until smooth.

In large mixer bowl, beat egg whites with cream of tartar until very stiff peaks form. Gently fold into batter.

Measure about one-third batter. Add to chocolate mixture. Gently fold until well blended.

Pour half the light batter into greased, 10-inch tube pan. Spoon in chocolate batter. Top with remaining light batter. Do not stir.

Bake on lower rack at 325° for 35 minutes or until top springs back when touched lightly.

Invert cake in pan. Cool completely. Loosen cake from pan. Invert onto serving plate.

Serve with fresh fruit of choice.

Makes 14 servings, 167 calories each.

Cold choco-lite souffle

1 envelope plus 1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk powder
1/2 cup confectioner's sugar
1/2 cup skim milk
1/2 cup semisweet chocolate chips
1 tsp. vanilla
(15-oz.) carton part-skim ricotta cheese
egg whites
Fresh fruit garnish

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water. Let stand 2 minutes to soften.

In medium saucepan, combine dry milk powder, 1/2 cup confectioner's sugar, skim milk and gelatin. Stir until blended. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved and mixture is very hot.

Remove from heat. Immediately add chocolate chips and vanilla. Stir or whisk until chips are completely melted and mixture is smooth.

Pour into large bowl. Cool, stirring occasionally, until mixture reaches room temperature.

Place ricotta cheese in individual ramekins. Fold in half lengthwise. Lightly oil one side of collar. Tape securely to outside of dish, oiled-side in, allowing collar to extend 2 inches above rim. Set aside.

In large mixer bowl, beat egg whites until foamy. Add remaining 1/2 cup confectioner's sugar. Beat until stiff peaks form. Gently fold chocolate mixture into egg whites. Pour into prepared dish or ramekins. Refrigerate several hours or until set. Garnish as desired. Makes 10 servings, 240 calories each.

Dieter's delight chocolate mousse

1 envelope (1.4 oz.) whipped topping mix
2 tsp. cocoa
1/2 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla
Fresh fruit garnish, if desired

In small mixer bowl, combine whipped topping mix and cocoa. Blend in milk and vanilla. Beat on high speed about 2 minutes until mixture peaks. Continue whipping until mousse is light and fluffy.

Spoon 1/2 cup into individual serving dishes. Serve immediately or chill until needed. Garnish before serving.

Makes 4 servings, 89 calories each.

Chocolate Banana Freeze: Mash very ripe banana to equal 1/2 cup. Gently fold into mousse. Spoon 1/2 cup into dessert dishes or pop molds. Freeze several hours or until firm. Makes 5 servings, 92 calories each.

Grandma approves fruit flavor

Every home has its anchor foods, favorites no family could do without. They range from a special dessert — perhaps a special holiday bread, comforting soup or a mainstay chicken dish. What would home be without jams that taste as if they came right from grandma's kitchen? They must include classic strawberry jams, the sweet staples of summer.

There is no reason to buy expensive gourmet jams that try to imitate authentic, homemade goodness when delicacies can be prepared easily with homestyle "signature" taste. Homemade jams are the only type Grandma would approve of. Amazingly, a minimal amount of strawberries makes a generous supply of jam.

Enjoy the wealth of summer strawberries for classic, yesterday's jams. Choose berries that are firm, plump and full-colored to give maximum taste and sweetness. Use them quickly, because they have a short life.

Even beginners can whip up a batch of fine-tasting jam with ease. Powdered or liquid fruit pectins supplement the natural pectin found in fruit, locking in fresh, ripe flavors and colors. For starters, team up delicious strawberries with another precious early summer fruit, rhubarb. Simply prepare the fruits as directed, add sugar, bring to boil and stir in the fruit pectin.

Other easy-to-make jams are Strawberry Orange and Strawberry Banana. The banana and orange deliciously complement the elegant strawberries.

Strawberry rhubarb jam

- 1 lb. trimmed red-stalked rhubarb
- 1 cup water
- 1 qt. fully ripe strawberries
- 6 cups (2 lb. 14 oz.) sugar
- 1 pouch liquid fruit pectin

Thinly slice or chop about 1/2 pound trimmed rhubarb. Do not peel. Place in saucepan. Add 1/4 cup water. Bring to boil. Cover and simmer until rhubarb is tender, about 3 minutes.

Stem and thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 1 quart strawberries. Combine fruits. Measure 3 1/2 cups into 6- or 8-quart saucepan.

Thoroughly crush sugar into fruit in saucepan. Over high heat, bring to boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in fruit pectin. Then bring to full rolling boil. Boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Ladle quickly into hot sterilized jars, filling to within 1/4 inch of tops. Wipe jar rims and threads. Cover with two-piece lids. Screw bands tightly.

CAPTURE STRAWBERRIES' exquisite flavor, aroma and telltale texture in homemade jams.

ized jars, filling to within 1/4 inch of tops. Wipe jar rims and threads. Cover with two-piece lids. Screw bands tightly.

Process 5 minutes in boiling water bath. Makes about 6 1/2 cups or about 7 (8 fl. oz.) jars.

Strawberry orange jam

- About 3 pt. fully ripe strawberries
- 2 medium oranges
- 7 cups (3 lb.) sugar
- 1 box (1 1/2 oz.) powdered fruit pectin

Stem and thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 3 pints strawberries.

Grate rind from 2 oranges to measure 2 tablespoons. Section oranges. Dice the sections. Add to strawberries with rind.

Measure 3 cups into 6- or 8-quart saucepan. Measure sugar and set aside. Mix fruit pectin into fruit in saucepan. Place over high heat. Stir until mixture comes to full boil.

Immediately add all sugar and stir. Bring to full rolling boil. Boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon.

Ladle quickly into hot sterilized jars, filling to within 1/4 inch of tops. Wipe jar rims and threads. Cover with two-piece lids. Screw bands tightly.

Process 5 minutes in boiling water bath. Makes about 8 cups or about 9 (8 fl. oz.) jars.

Junior chefs juggle study with kitchen time for credit

By Janice Denham
Journal food editor

One of the best-kept secrets in the neighborhood when it comes to culinary talent is the Junior Chefs de Cuisine.

These chefs-to-be are masters at balancing more than trays. They work side-by-side with local established chefs, take college credit classes at Forest Park Community College and still somehow find energy and time to stage several events a year. This spring they hosted and prepared a Kitchen Buffet, with entrees of London Broil with Highlander Sauce, walleye encased in a flaky dough with a lemon saffron or tomato buerre blanc sauce, and fruited breast of chicken.

Their most recent effort was a Hawaiian luau for the Missouri Restaurant Assn. at the Botanical Garden where the top of the menu read Lanai Pork, Maui Chicken, Molokai Beef and Wainai Fish, with volcano sundaes and Pail Pass macaroni fingers dipped in chocolate for dessert.

The chefs with whom the 35 chef apprentices work are enthusiastic about their student chefs. Ollie Sommer, president of Ideal Catering, was the certified executive chef in charge of the Kitchen Buffet. He says the junior chef program is ideal now that chefs in the United States can be rewarded for work and study in this country, particularly near where they live.

The program itself has increased from 30 to 35 participants in the past year because of the participation of more chefs. While many use only one or two, some, like Sommer who has five apprentices, oversee more.

Part of the event's special foods that evening included two distinguished, yet practical vegetable dishes, Champagne Braised Cabbage and Sweet Potato Pancakes.

Champagne braised cabbage

- 1 medium cabbage
- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup champagne
- 2 cups 40 percent cream

Remove outer leaves from cabbage. Cut head in half, then each half in half. Remove core. Lay wedge on side and shred cabbage to 1/4 inch with sharp knife.

In saute pan, heat butter. Sauté cabbage until tender, 10 to 15 minutes.

Add champagne and cream. Reduce liquid by half.

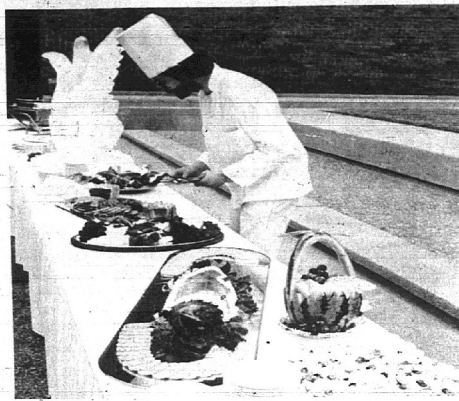

Season with salt and white pepper to taste.

Sweet potato pancakes

- 1/2 to 3/4 cup brown sugar
- 2 lb. sweet potatoes
- 2 green onions, minced
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 6 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 1 tsp. vegetable oil

Peel and shred potatoes. Roll potatoes in towel to remove excess moisture. Place in bowl. Set aside.

Combine onion, eggs, flour, brown sugar, salt, onions and 2 tablespoons margarine. Pour over shredded potatoes. Toss together well. Melt 2 tablespoons butter with oil in 10-inch non-stick skillet.

CHEF APPRENTICE at Cafe Le Pot au Feu, Brian Hope, puts final touches on the appetizers at this spring's Kitchen Buffet.

Add potato mixture. Press down evenly with spatula to form pancake. Cover and cook over medium heat 12 to 15 minutes or until brown and crisp on bottom. Place flat skillet lid on large plate over skillet. Invert pancake onto lid.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in skillet. Slide potato pancake back into skillet, cooked-side up. Cook uncovered, over medium heat 10 minutes more or until browned and crisp on other side. Slide pancake onto serving platter. Cut into wedges to serve. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Easy-to-prepare lentils lend protein to sandwiches, salads

Among the earliest foods cultivated by man were legumes, the protein-packed dried peas and beans used most often today in soups and stews. Evidence of legume cultivation comes from the Neolithic period of pre-history, and actual remains of lentils—a variety of legume—have been found in Egyptian tombs of the Twelfth Dynasty (2400 to 2200 B.C.).

Although legumes today play a prominent role in many foreign cuisines, American consumption of these nutritious foods is limited.

Sauces put high heat on roast beef entrees

Serve roast beef or steak with an assortment of sauces.

Mustard Sauce: Combine 3/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing and 2 tablespoons mustard.

Sauce Piquante: Combine 1 cup barbecue sauce, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, and 1/4 cup cream-style horseradish.

ed. In the search for healthful plant foods, however, legumes make a valuable contribution. In addition to providing a lowfat source of protein, they contain iron, magnesium, zinc, several B vitamins and fiber. What is more, legumes are very economical.

Consider lentils, one of the simplest legumes to prepare. Lentils require no soaking and cook conventionally in only 30 minutes, 10 to 20 minutes in a pressure cooker. They can be combined with other ingredients in soups, salads and stews; served alone flavored with herbs and other seasonings, or puréed and made into sandwich spreads and dips.

These dishes feature lentils in two very different ways.

In Broccoli-Lentil Salad, the delicious flavors of broccoli and the reduced-fat ranch-style dressing come through. Lentils provide contrasting texture and color, as well as added nutrition. A new twist to the old favorite Sloppy Joses uses lentils instead of ground beef. Once the lentils are cooked, at serving time or beforehand, this dish is a snap to prepare and is bound to become as much a favorite as the original.

Broccoli-lentil Salad

- 3/4 cup dry lentils
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 5 tbsp. plain lowfat yogurt
- 4 tsp. skan milk
- 4 tsp. mayonnaise
- 2 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 tsp. basil
- 1 tsp. oregano
- Pepper to taste
- 1 1/2 cups chopped broccoli
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup sliced onions

Rinse lentils. Remove any stones or debris. Place in medium saucepan with water. Simmer 20 minutes. Drain.

Meanwhile, mix yogurt, milk, mayonnaise, garlic powder, basil, oregano and pepper to taste to make dressing.

When lentils are tender, add dressing to them while they are still hot. Chill.

When chilled, toss with broccoli, celery and onions.

li, celery and onions. Makes 4 servings, with 4 gm. fat and about 108 calories each.

Sloppy joses

- 1 cup dry lentils
- Water
- tsp. salt, if desired
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chili sauce
- 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 1/2 to 2 tsp. chili powder

Place lentils in pot with 2 1/2 cups water, salt and onion. Bring to gentle boil. Reduce heat to very low. Allow to simmer until lentils are very tender, about 40 minutes. After about 20 minutes, add celery and peppers.

Watch lentils carefully so that they don't become dry and burn. Add small amounts of water as needed during cooking time until lentils soften.

Add chili sauce, garlic powder, chili powder and an additional 1/2 cup water (or enough to bring to desired consistency). Cook until desired thickness and tenderness.

Serve on whole-grain buns. Makes about 3 1/2 cups filling or enough for about 5 to 8 sandwiches. It contains almost no fat, and has only 125 calories per half cup.

Control of nutsedge tough but possible

By S. Gary Custis
Agronomist

Nutsedge, or nutgrass as it is called by many homeowners, is probably one of the most difficult weeds to control. It is ranked as one of the major weeds in agriculture in the United States if not the world.

Nutsedge (Cyperus esculentus L.) is a true sedge and not a grass plant. To determine if it is nutsedge that you have in your lawn, simply pull a piece of it and check the stem. All sedges have triangular stems. Roll the stem between your fingers, and you will be able to feel its shape.

There are two varieties of nutsedge: yellow and purple. In this area, we only have to contend with the yellow nutsedge variety.

Nutsedge is a perennial weed—that is, it lives from year to year. It can reproduce by seeds, rhizomes or tubers (nutlets). The tubers lie dormant in the soil during the winter. The cold and moisture over the winter help in breaking the tubers, thus permitting germination in the spring.

When a tuber or nutlet breaks in spring, two or more slender rhizomes, underground runners, emerge to form new plants. Tubers are capable of germinating two to three times during a growing season. These rhizomes form new plants several inches from the original plant, which is how patches of nutsedge form. In late summer, these plants form new tubers, allowing them to survive over the winter.

During one experiment, it was reported that a single tuber produced 1,900 plants in only one season, with 6,900 tubers being formed. In most situations involving home lawns, the total volume of new plants and tubers would be greatly reduced, but the capability of the plant is still there.

These tubers can lie dormant for many years, which is why a problem suddenly may appear in areas where nutsedge has not been seen for years.

The leaf color is a lighter green than the turf. Because of the color difference and the fact that nutsedge grows at a faster rate than the turfgrass, nutsedge sticks out like a sore thumb. It has been reported that continual mowing stresses the nutsedge and weakens it to the point that the good grass can compete very well.

The best control that is available to homeowners is MSMA (monosodium methanearsonate). This may be sold under a variety of names by different companies. There are a few keys to be certain to follow to increase the control:

Be certain to apply the material so that it covers the entire plant.

Mow the lawn a couple of days prior to the application and do not mow for at least two days following the application.

Water the lawn well prior to the treatment.

Repeat the application about one week after the first treatment.

Follow the directions on the label, as this material can injure the lawn if used incorrectly.

Do-it-yourself remedies help revive carpet beauty

Dirt, stains or burn marks can spoil the beauty of any carpet. Here are a few do-it-yourself "fix-up" tips from Kevin Kelleher, vice president of Market Management, Homequity Inc.

"Soiled Carpet": Rent a heavy-duty electric shampooer from a supermarket or hardware store. These machines have special devices that control and prevent soaking the surface of a carpet, eliminating the possibility of shrinkage, and they do an effective job.

Use the cleaner indicated and mix according to instructions. Make overlapping strokes with the machine over all of the carpet. The foam cleaning action that this produces will ensure even coverage. When the suds disappear and the carpet dries, vacuum the carpet. Do not put furniture back in place until the carpet fibers have fully dried.

"Animal Stains": Mix 1 cup of water with 1 teaspoon of white vinegar. Apply the solution to the stain. Allow it to remain on the stain for 15 minutes. Blot the excess moisture. Then wash the stain with warm, mildly soapy water; sponge with cold water; blot dry with paper towels.

"Grease Stains": First try warm, soapy water. If the stain remains, use an all-purpose liquid cleaner.

"Nail Polish": If caught immediately, nail polish can be wiped away using a mild detergent and water. Don't use nail polish remover; it will dissolve polyester fibers. A professional rug cleaner is required if the spill has set.

"Burn Marks": If it is a small surface burn with only the tips of the fibers scorched, rub the surface with a clean, fine steel wool pad, carefully removing the scorched portion. You'll need a vacuum to pick up the dust that accumulates.

If the burn is deep, and you have a matching leftover piece of carpet, an almost invisible patch is possible on a shag or sculptured carpet. It will not work as well on velvet-cut or smooth-cut carpet.

With a sharp cutting tool, cut a clean square around the burn mark. Remove the square with the burn. Cut a patch the same size from the carpet remnant. Using a carpet adhesive, apply a thin coat to the underside. Press patch in place. The weight of a few books placed on the patch will ensure a strong bond. Make certain you do not use too much of the adhesive on the edges of the patch.

Tiny peas contain powerful nutrition

What is in a cup of raw peas besides flavorful eating? They are a rich source of the valuable minerals phosphorus and potassium.

The tiny legume packs a lot of vitamin power, too. That one cup holds 900 International Units of Vitamin A along with high concentrations of vitamins B, C and G. Although they are high in carbohydrates, peas have fewer calories cup for cup than yogurt, corn or potatoes.

Peas, like all other vegetables, begin to lose their nutritive value as they are cooked in water. Overcooking causes garden peas to wrinkle, snap peas to lose their snap and edible-podded peas, or snow peas, to wilt instead of crunch. Steaming or stir-frying will keep the peas bright green, crisp and tender and will help retain the water-soluble vitamins and minerals.

Skeleton crew takes two in Trenton

Gang of nine nips host team behind Krausz

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

TRENTON — The few. The proud. The Triplets. Kind of like a small band of guerrilla fighters, the Tri-City Post 113 baseball team came and conquered Saturday. They say baseball is a nine-man game, and the Triplets once again took that to heart.

They arrived in Trenton with nine and only nine players. They had to play two games. It obviously wasn't going to be the most relaxing afternoon for any of them.

But they knew the job they had to do and they did it. When all was said and done, well, there wasn't anything left to say or do. The Triplets drove away with a pair of victories in what amounted to a hastily-arranged round robin tournament. Their victims were Trenton (3-1) and Centralia (11-10).

The afternoon sweep raised Tri-City's record to 7-6.

This has to be a big confidence builder," said manager Gus Lignoul. "We had to come right back and make the long drive home after a real tough loss last night."

Lignoul was referring to a 12-11 loss in Smithton Friday, a game in which the Triplets took an 11-8 lead into the bottom of the seventh. But Smithton rallied with four runs for the victory as Jamie Hogan took the loss in relief.

That hardly left anyone in the mood for the 35-mile trek to Trenton Saturday morning. But Tim and Jamie Hogan, Todd Hinterser, John Moad, Darin Hendrickson, Jeff Grote, Tim Patterson, Joe Wallace and Mike Krausz did it anyway and made it a profitable journey.

Krausz pitched very well against a Trenton team that was averaging almost eight runs per game. He took a shutout into the seventh before Hendrickson came in from left field to get the last three outs. Moad was rocked for six early runs in the second game. But he settled down and pitched remarkably for four innings as the Triplets roared

Moad hangs on in nightcap with help from Hendrickson

TRENTON — John Moad had to know he was in for a long afternoon of pitching.

And he came within one pitch of going all the way. Despite allowing 10 runs, Moad pitched a creditable game in the second game Saturday at Trenton. He was left for dead by Centralia in the first two innings as he allowed six runs.

But he and his teammates roared back to score 11 unanswered runs. Then Moad — with last-pitch help from Darin Hendrickson — staved off a four-run rally in the seventh to claim an 11-10 win for Post 113.

Moad was a little down after the first two innings, but went out with renewed vigor in the third and pitched like Bret Saberhagen for the next four innings. He allowed only two runners in that time and both were erased on good defensive plays.

By the time he took the mound for the seventh inning, he had an 11-6 lead. But a couple of errors led to four unearned runs and the tying and winning runs were based when Hendrickson was brought in from left field to get his second save of the day.

He threw only one pitch — and Brad Diehl fouled to first baseman Tim Patterson to end the game.

"All of these kids are competitors, and John Moad showed that today," said Triplets manager Gus Lignoul. "We didn't even consider taking him out after the early part of the game."

A big reason for that was availability of only nine players. Mike Krausz had pitched the first game and the only other real option was catcher Joe Wallace.

"Wallace could have pitched and Jamie (Hogan) would have been the catcher," Lignoul said. "But John needed to get the work. He had hurt his elbow in the cold weather in Wood River early in the high school season and he hadn't had that much work."

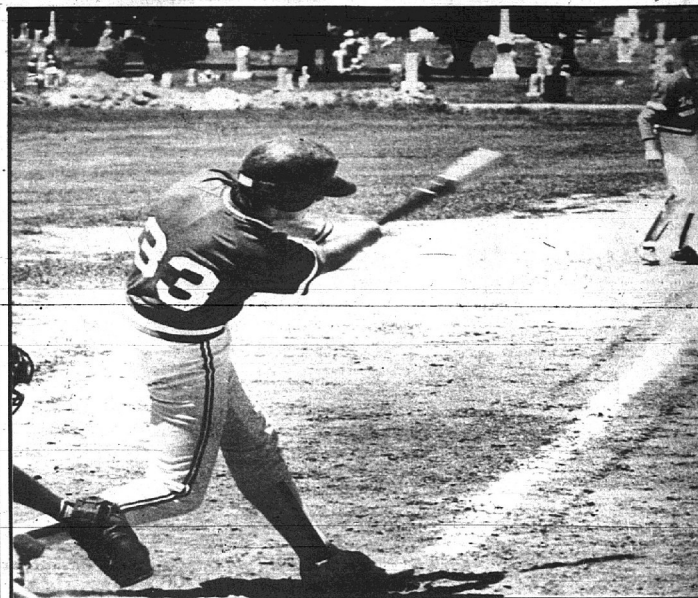

He had more work than he could handle early. Centralia got RBI hits from Jason Pickett and Phil Wert in the first. Then Diehl got an RBI hit in the second and Scott Bieser added a run-scoring triple. By the time John Dale delivered two more runs with a screaming double to left, it was 6-0 and things looked dark.

But Todd Hinterser saved two runs with a leaping catch of Kirk Rueter's line drive and Moad went on to retire nine in a row.

The Triplets began their comeback against the lefty Rueter in the third. Tim Hogan walked, Jamie Hogan doubled and Moad walked to fill the bases. Hendrickson walked to make it 6-1. Jamie scored on a wild pitch and Jeff Grote's infield hit made it 6-3.

Tim Patterson reached on an error.

trouble in the first three innings against Trenton while his teammates passed through the same rough field and was sacrificed to third by Grote. Pitcher Scott Thomas fielded the bunt and threw to third, but Hendrickson was called safe by the base umpire. The home plate umpire signaled out but was overruled by his partner despite a lengthy debate with the Trenton dugout.

Patterson hit into a 4-6-3 double play, but Hendrickson came home to make it 1-0.

After a leadoff walk to Brad Brede in the third, Krausz found his groove and got eight straight ground ball outs before Brede doubled with two outs in the fifth. But Thomas filed out to left.

The Triplets, meanwhile, added a second run in their fifth. Tim Hogan walked with one out, then brother Jamie executed the hit-and-run perfectly, singling through the vacated hole between first and second as Tim

John Hinterser missed on a squeeze bunt and Tim Hogan was trapped between third and home. But Mike Jackson's throw to the catcher hit Hogan in the back and he scored as Jamie went to third.

Optimists strand 14 as winning streak ends

By Dave Whaley

GRANITE CITY — Stranded in Granite City.

It's not a new movie. It was the story of Monday's game at Varsity Field. It might not be stretching the facts to say that one or two key hits at the right time might have made a 12-1 game interesting.

Although the Optimists' nine-game winning streak ended with that lopsided loss to East St. Louis, they did almost as much as one team can do in five innings without scoring more than one run. They left 14 men on base in five innings.

Simple math will tell you that means they left the bases loaded in four innings and two runners in the other innings.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Optimists coach Carl Benson. "The pitcher they had walked, but Craig Dippel popped to short. Adamitis stranded two in the third by hitting into a force play.

Three consecutive walks by Webb filled the bases with nobody out in the fourth, but Dippel fouled out, Chris Hampsey fanned and Burton grounded to first. An error and two more walks filled the bases in the fifth, but Wallace lined to center.

"This was just a bad night for us," Benson said as the Optimists fell to 9-2 (5-2 in league play). "But East St. Louis hit the ball. They have a good team. They have a 7-4 record, so they can be beaten. We just didn't do things right tonight."

East St. Louis did most of their hitting against Wallace. Darren Pitts scored after doubling in the first on Dippel's throwing error. Kevin Hall's two-run single highlighted a three-run second. Then they added six more in the third. The Pacers got five hits through a drawn-in infield to build a 10-1 lead.

Ronnie Lewis homered over the left-field fence in the fourth against Chris Wiehardt. Darnell Hawkins singled, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Pitts' single to finish the scoring.

"When we lose, we lose them big, don't we?" Benson said, referring to Monday's game and the 12-1 loss to Brighton in the opener.

NOYES: The Optimists will try to start another streak when they play at Bethalto tonight at 6 p.m. Last Tuesday's game that was rained out in Belleville has been rescheduled for July 23 at 6 p.m. The game will be played at the Belleville Area College campus.

(Corey Webb) wasn't that good. I talked to the Edwardsville coach and he said Webb was really tough. He didn't throw that great, but he got the outs when he needed them."

The Optimists filled the bases with two outs in the first on a Jason Smith double and two walks, but Kory Burton flied to center. Smith doubled home Troy Adamitis in the second to cut East St. Louis' lead to 4-1. Chris Nolan and Joe Wallace

Local runners star in Sr. Olympics 10K runs

ST. LOUIS — Almost 83 years ago to the day, long-distance runners passed through the same wrought-iron fences at Francis Field. The event was the marathon at the Western Hemisphere's first International Olympics at the 1904 games in St. Louis.

Sunday morning, former Rolla, Mo., native Jack Gentry led 107 runners competing in the U.S. National Senior Olympics 10-kilometer run through the historic portals marking the entrance to the complex at Washington University.

Gentry's winning time of 39 minutes, 10 seconds in the run set a standard for the event, since the National Senior Olympics is a first-time happening.

A dozen St. Louisans, most of them wearing St. Louis and Gateway Club singlets, represented the home town in the run to Forest Park and back.

Norm Coulter, professor of criminal justice at Meramec Community College, finished fourth in the 55 to 59 age bracket with a respectable time of 40:27.

Twenty years ago the bearded Coulter served in Vietnam as a senior military advisor.

"I was overweight; I weighed 180 pounds," said Coulter, who lives on a 3-acre tract of land in Kirkwood. "I had to do something about my weight. In Vietnam I turned to running. Each day I'd do laps on an old, worn out cinder track at a Catholic school in Saigon."

Coulter's been labeled the "fastest lawman in the west," taking fourth place in last year's Chief of Police's National run in Nashville, Tenn. After winning the event the previous year in Salt Lake City, he will compete in the run this year in October in Toronto.

Dottie Gray of Kirkwood, running in the women's 60 to 64 division finished second, taking the silver medal in a time of 51:29.

"That was my best time in so long," said Gray. "This was a nice course, it was flat and fast. The weather (cool and clear) was fantastic. We were blessed."

Gray was particularly happy to race over the Forest Park route.

"At the (St. Louis) Senior Olympics, we run 25 times around the Country Day (High School) track and that gets monotonous," she said. "It was a privilege to take part in the historic first event. I'm sure we'll (the Galloping Gourmets) travel as a group together to the next one."

John Bralowski, 71, came home in 49:47. He had run the course many times before.

"You know, I'm never home any more," said Bralowski, who resides in Spanish Lake. "If I'm not out running, then I'm out fishing. I love to run and I love to dance. It's wonderful to see older people staying in such good shape."

Herb Cavin, a resident of the 1st in age group

Hi-Point neighborhood near Forest Park, finished in 1:01:01 and says that was acceptable because he was running with a painful pulled calf muscle.

Julio Happa, head technician of the surgical pathology unit at Barnes Hospital, ran a 47:08 in the age 60 to 64 bracket.

"I really enjoyed the race," said Happa, age 60. "There were spectators along the route and the weather was perfect. I run 7 miles a day and 10 to 15 miles on Sunday. Naturally I enjoy running."

Bill Schmitt of Godfrey, the long-time wrestling coach at Granite City High School, took first place in the men's 65-69 bracket.

Oscar Hartmann, the indomitable spirit from Lemay ran a 46:12, good for sixth place in men's 65 to 69 bracket.
